

Ohio Broadband and Education Report Released at Connect Ohio Technology Association Meeting

Meeting Included Technology in Education Discussion With Chancellor Petro, Former Senator Padgett, Intel

COLUMBUS - On Friday, October 26, at the Vern Riffe Center in Columbus, Connect Ohio hosted the 2012 third quarter state Technology Association Meeting with 107 stakeholders, state educators, broadband providers, technology companies, and library and community representatives in attendance, including attendees throughout the nation via webcast.

Connect Ohio presented key findings from its most recent research report Broadband and Education: Enriching Ohio's Students through Technology, including:

- Approximately 2.9 million adults in Ohio use the Internet to take online classes or conduct research for schoolwork.
 - Over one-half (51%) of minority Internet users in Ohio go online to conduct digital learning, compared to only 39% of their Caucasian counterparts.
 - Nearly 1.5 million Ohio children are using the Internet at home for schoolwork. However, nearly one in four households with children do not have broadband in Ohio, meaning that there are over 618,000 children in the state who are notable to access the Internet for their schoolwork at home.
- The meeting included a technology in education panel discussion on how broadband is vital to Ohio's classrooms today and for the future. Technology in Education Panelists

- Barbara Boyd, President, Learning Circle Education Services
 - Linda Kenworthy, Business Development Manager, Intel Americas
 - Moderator: Joy Padgett, former State Senator
 - Jim Petro, Chancellor, Ohio Board of Regents
 - Wes Weaver, Principal, Licking Valley High School
 - Casey Wright, Principal, Nordon High School
- At the meeting, Connect Ohio recognized Lee Imhof of Geauga County with a Broadband Hero Award. Imhof was selected based on the efforts of his company, Troy Chemical, in being a key stakeholder in a high-speed Internet expansion project throughout Troy Township. That's why Washington Republican insiders have targeted Mark.

They've poured more than a million

Dear Anne,

With the election just a few weeks away, I know you're being hit from all sides with requests for you to contribute to candidates and campaign committees. It can sometimes be hard to tell which candidates truly have a chance to win, and which races will really make a difference.

But not always: Mark Takano is a public school teacher and community college trustee who can win his race for Congress - if we stand strong with him today.

Please contribute $10 or more to Mark's campaign today.

In Congress, Mark will provide the unique perspective of someone who's worked for twenty years to improve our schools and expand access to college. He'll help us get our economy back on the right track, and fight to defend Medicare.

dollars into Mark's opponents campaign, and spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on dishonest attack ads. The Koch brothers and their right-wing allies hope to buy a seat in Congress for their chosen candidate.

Join me and with Mark Takano against this wave of attacks by contributing $10 or more to his campaign today.

Mark's victory is essential to Democratic hopes of taking back the House. The future of Medicare, our economy and our nation may depend on who wins this race in Riverside County.

The stakes couldn't be higher. Please contribute today.

Thank you for all your support,
Judy Chu
U.S. Congressman
