LGBTQIA+ ENGAGEMENT

The White House Celebrates Pride Month

On Wednesday, June 26th, First Lady Jill Biden hosted a Pride Celebration on the White House South Lawn to showcase the contributions of the LGBTQIA+ community and highlight the Biden-Harris Administration's commitment to supporting and uplifting LGBTQIA+ families. The First Lady delivered remarks. Guests enjoyed a performance by award-winning singer and actress, Deborah Cox, and musical selections by DJ Trife.

Last night, the White House opened its doors to thousands of Americans from all across the country to honor the extraordinary courage and contributions of the LGBTQIA+ community, and to celebrate their legacy and progress.

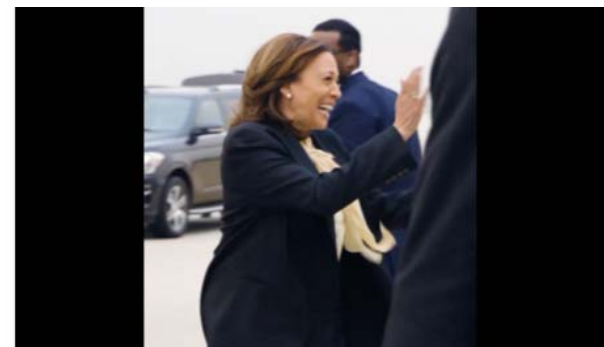

Today, we celebrate the anniversary of the monumental marriage equality ruling of Obergefell v. Hodges.

This case moved our country forward, and was made possible because of the courageous couples and advocates in the LGBTQIA+ community who fought for these hard-won rights.

To the LGBTQIA+ community: We see you, we stand with you, and we celebrate you with pride.

President Biden Grants Pardon of LGBTQIA+ Service Members Wrongly Convicted

On Wednesday, June 26th, President Biden issued a statement granting a pardon of LGBTQIA+ service members wrongly convicted.

Today, I am righting an historic wrong by using my clemency authority to pardon many former service members who were convicted simply for being themselves. Our Nation's service members stand on the frontlines of freedom, and risk their lives in order to defend our country. Despite their courage and great sacrifice, thousands of LGBTQIA+ service members were forced out of the military because of their sexual orientation or gender identity. Some of these patriotic Americans were subject to court-martial, and have carried the burden of this great injustice for decades.

STATEMENT FROM PRESIDENT JOE BIDEN ON THE PARDON OF LGBTQIA+ SERVICE MEMBERS WRONGLY CONVICTED

Today, I am righting an historic wrong by using my clemency authority to pardon many former service members who were convicted simply for being themselves. Our Nation's service members stand on the frontlines of freedom, and risk their lives in order to defend our country. Despite their courage and great sacrifice, thousands of LGBTQIA+ service members were forced out of the military because of their sexual orientation or gender identity. Some of these patriotic Americans were subject to court-martial, and have carried the burden of this great injustice for decades.

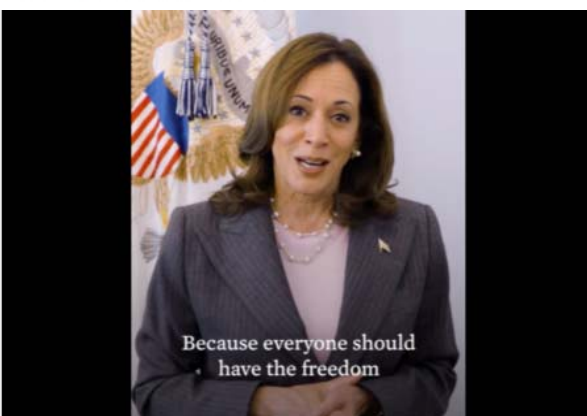

As Commander in Chief, I am committed to maintaining the finest fighting force in the world. That means making sure that every member of our military is safe and respected – so they can focus on their mission.

This is about dignity, decency, and ensuring the culture of our Armed Forces reflect the values that make us an exceptional nation. We have a sacred obligation to all of our service members – including our brave LGBTQIA+ service members: to properly prepare and equip them when they are sent into harm's way, and to care for them and their families when they return home. Today we are making progress in that pursuit.

Every person in our nation must have the freedom to love who they love, openly and with pride — including our brave service members who sacrifice so much.

Today, @POTUS is pardoning thousands of former service members who were forced out of the military because of their sexual orientation. They are finally receiving the justice they deserve, and we recommit to our fight for equality for all Americans.

Because everyone should have the freedom

TECHNOLOGY

Actions to Increase Access to Affordable, High-Speed Internet

On Wednesday, June 26th, Vice President Harris announced new actions to increase access to affordable, high-speed internet.

Today, I am proud to highlight that we are finalizing a rule to allow schools and libraries – primarily in low-income and rural areas – to use funding from the Federal Communications Commission's E-Rate program for Wi-Fi hotspots that will increase access to remote learning and virtual library services. Additionally, the National Telecommunications and Information Administration will award over $9 million to the state of Nevada to implement their Digital Equity Plan. This is the first award issued under our Administration's more than $1.4 billion State Digital Equity Capacity Grant Program, which will help millions of families receive the resources, skills, and opportunities they need to access internet that is fast, affordable, and reliable.

President Biden and I will never stop fighting to make it easier for Americans to access affordable, high-speed internet.

Read my statement on our Administration's new actions to continue fulfilling that vision:

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

STATEMENT FROM VICE PRESIDENT KAMALA HARRIS ON NEW ADMINISTRATION ACTIONS TO INCREASE ACCESS TO AFFORDABLE, HIGH-SPEED INTERNET

JUNE 26, 2024

Every person in America should be able to access affordable, high-speed internet no matter where they live or how much they earn. That is why President Biden and I made the largest investment in affordable, high-speed internet in history with $90 billion to address barriers to internet access. That includes helping 23 million families save on their monthly bills through our Affordable Connectivity Program. While Republicans in Congress have refused to help us revive this program, our Administration is refusing to let them stop us from delivering for families across America.

Today, I am proud to highlight that we are finalizing a rule to allow schools and libraries – primarily in low-income and rural areas – to use funding from the Federal Communications Commission's E-Rate program for Wi-Fi hotspots that will increase access to remote learning and virtual library services. This is the first award issued under our Administration's more than $1.4 billion State Digital Equity Capacity Grant Program, which will help millions of families receive the resources, skills, and opportunities they need to access internet that is fast, affordable, and reliable.

President Biden and I understand that this is essential in the 21st century – from ensuring our students can do their homework and that parents can find a good-paying job, to making sure our communities' small business owners can use the internet to run their business. We will not stop fighting to make it easier for everyone to access affordable, high-speed internet. Today's actions are another important step toward fulfilling that vision.

HOUSING

New Actions on Housing

On Wednesday, June 26th, Vice President Harris announced first-of-its-kind funding to lower housing costs by reducing barriers to building more homes.

Vice President Harris announced the recipients of new grants under the Pathways to Removing Obstacles to Housing (PRO Housing) grant competition with the goal of building more housing, and lowering housing and rental costs for American families. This announcement builds on sweeping actions to reduce barriers, boost housing supply, and lower costs, including:

- * Leveraging discretionary grant programs to encourage state and local action to build more housing.
- * Updated guidance for converting commercial property to housing.
- * Provided low-cost capital for housing.
- * Finalized the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) "Income Averaging" rule.
- * Streamlined and modernized the HOME program.
- * Invested in making our nation's affordable housing more energy efficient and resilient. (go to page 17)
